Transitioning Pet Food for Dogs

How do I switch foods?

Ideally, a pet should gradually transition from his current food to the new food. To begin the transition, mix your pet's current food with the new food. Gradually decrease the amount of the current food while increasing the amount of new food. Continue to do this over a 7-day period. To help you with the transition, refer to the 7-Day Transition Schedule:

Example: Start with 75% old food, 25% new food for a few days. Then 50/50 for a few days. Then 75% new food, 25% old food until transitioned to the new food 100%.
